

Subject :

In the matter of the effect of Article 6, Paragraph 1 in Article 10 of the Act on Recusal of Public Servants Due to Conflicts of Interest in the aspect of recusal on the utilization of special account expenses by the head of an entity with alleged involvement with the interest of the person or related parties.

Description :

The head of an entity may utilize special account expenses as rewards to the staff of the entity or for offering gifts to the private sector, invitation of many to supper, or offering gifts to many of whom one is a related party, it will be difficult to determine conveyance of unjust interests if the event is not held for the private purpose of the person or the related party. Likewise, it is not associated with a conflict of interest that the head of the entity is not required to recuse themselves.
