

Subject :

Should the offering of monthly calendars and daily memo books by contractors or enterprises to employees of entities be governed by the “Ethics Guidelines for Civil Servants”.

Description :

Civil servants accepting the offering of monthly calendars and/or daily memo books or work calendars with the printing of a business title (like the full title of the company, office, and institution), method of contact, and business items, which are classified as materials of the enterprises for promotion in public and image marketing. In addition, for those items the value of which is low and the effect on the particular form of rights and obligations are not a concern, and the recipients are not confined to civil servants. In the aforementioned circumstance, the guidelines should not be applied.