2020 Integrity Education Campus Publicity Series

Diversified Interactive Integrity Courses for Indigenous Townships

To extend the efficacy of the 2019 Integrity Education Campus Publicity Series and popularize the integrity education, the Agency Against Corruption (AAC) oversees the government employee ethics unit of all competent authorities to plan and implement the “2020 Integrity Education Campus Publicity Series” by integrating the resources of entities across regions, with an aim to extend integrity education to schools in rural townships, care for vulnerable students, and develop digital education materials for integrity. Through combining the campus publicity resources of integrity education of all government employee ethics units across Taiwan, the AAC plans to provide education for 255 schools in rural townships to disseminate integrity to all parts of Taiwan.

By combining with the “Integrity Magic Blogger: Shanhaitun Integrity Camp” organized by the Taichung City Government, the AAC arranged courses in three sessions, including “Call of the Ocean,” “Music of the Mountain,” and “Magic Printing Adventure” in collaboration with the Taichung City Government, Taiwan High Court Taichung Branch Court, the Council of Agriculture of the Executive Yuan, and the Printing Plant of the Ministry of Finance. The “Music of the Mountain” was given today (13th) at the P'uma Elementary School in Heping District, Taichung City. At this education space combining education, legacy, and prosperity, the principal and students unveiled the event with energetic and brilliant indigenous songs. Taichung City Deputy Mayor Tzu-Jing Chen, President Po-Tao Li of Taiwan High Court Taichung Branch Court, and AAC Director-General Ming-Chian Cheng rang the bell to officially start the integrity camp!

The government employee ethics units has designed all interactive courses for today, including the “Integrity Volunteer Drama Show” which tells accepting bribes and embezzlements are incorrect behaviors through lively drama performance; the “Magic Judge Character and Rule of Law Education” where the correct concept and value of the rule of law is cultivated in students wearing the little court dress; the “Magic Farmer Art” which introduces the meaning of integrity through DIY activities; and the “Honest Magic Course” where the importance of integrity, ethics, and courage is communicated to students through interaction. Through those approaches and learning from doing, these activities enable students to learn and understand the importance of integrity in a more relaxing manner!

The AAC will continue to enforce the childhood ingraining education of anti-corruption advocates in the United Nations Convention Against Corruption; break from the confines of time and space to deepen and popularize integrity education; and integrate regional resources to demonstrate the effort and determination to build an integral homeland.
