

1209 International Anti-Corruption Events
Law with Integrity: Anti-Corruption Children Theatre
Troupe Great Finale !

On Saturday, December 3rd, 2016, Paperwindmill Children's theater Troupe performed “Law with Integrity: Anti-Corruption Children Theatre” at the New Taipei City Government Multifunction Hall. Lu Tai-Lang, Chief Secretary of Judicial Yuan, Lin Chin-Chun, deputy secretary of Judicial Yuan, Lai-Jhe Syong, Director-General of AAC, Hong Jhao-Long, Head of Taiwan Taipei District Court, Ye Li-Sia, Head of Taiwan New Taipei City District Court, Lin Jhe Huei, Head of Department of Government Ethics of the Judicial Yuan, and Li Li-Sian, Head of Department of Government Ethic, New Taipei City, participated in the event, and took photos altogether with the members of the Paperwindmill Troupe theatre.

In response to the UN's 1209 International Anti-Corruption day, the Judicial Yuan urged for public support on integrity governance, promoting the concept of anti-corruption and education of such concept on campus. The renowned Paperwindmill Children's Theatre was invited to perform Magic Book of Paperwindmill, and dramas such as Dance of Witch, Fantasia of Terracota, and Animal Sports Contest, which included ideas of honesty, integrity, and anti-corruption. Through the lively performances, the ideas of integrity were conveyed to the 1100 students and their attendant parents.

Chief Secretary Lu of Judicial Yuan implied that establishing righteous judicial principles is the core value of a judicial revamp. In recent years, the Judicial Yuan attempted to propose reinforce reform programs on public through public perspective, such as hosting the Open the Court Campagin, inviting students and faculties to visit courts in order to change public misunderstanding of judicial procedures. In the future, civilians will be encouraged to participate in the judicial system. Through active participation in the judicial process, one may be able to comprehend judicial functions. The event aims to promote judicial integrity and construct legal education in schools.

Director-General Lai of AAC said that the Agency had cooperated with various Government Employee Ethics Units around Taiwan, promoting a consensus on legal transparency and zero tolerance for corruption, as well as campus integrity and moral education for students. He hoped to improve students' view on integrity and honesty, enabling them to internalize and make it into their self-discipline. While anti-corruption concepts should be conducted in campus, it should also be taught in the family education.

There were numerous tremendous visitors joining the event that day. The Civil Service Ethics Division of Judicial Yuan also arranged an entertainment stalls to draw attention and participation for parents and their children. Government Employee Ethic Units such as Taipei District Court and New Taipei District Court designed games like including integrity grid, integrity pinball, and poking lottery. Before the events began, There are propaganda on stage about Anti-Corruption and proving Q&A questions with the audience and sending giveaways.

The New Taipei City Government Multifunction Hall was filled nearly packed. When the performance began, all parents and their children present, were fully indulged from the performance. From the enthusiastic audience, it was obvious that the event had made great success, conveying the notion of integrity and make the seed of integrity starts growing days by days in children's heart.

【Photos at Law with Integrity: Anti-Corruption Children Theatre】

Lin Chin-Chun, Deputy Secretary of Judicial Yuan (left 5), Lai Jhe-Syong, Director-General of AAC (right 5), Hong Jhao-Long, Head of Taiwan Taipei District Court (right 4), Ye Li-Sia, Head of Taiwan New Taipei City District Court (right 3), Liou Ge-Lun, Head of Public Relations Division of Judicial Yuan (right 1), Lin Jhe-Huei, Head of Civil Service Ethic Unit of Judicial Yuan (left 4)

【Lu Ta-Lang, Chief Secretary of Judicial Yuan spoke.】

【Lai Jhe-Syong, Director-General of AAC, spoke.】

【Photos at Law with Integrity: Anti-Corruption Children Theatre】

【Photos at the event】

【 Photo of the event 】